

Beyond the Dualistic Veil of Feminine and Masculine

For thousands of years, people referred to Earth as “Mother” and to God as “He” or “Father.” These metaphors were created to help us understand how the natural world functions, but there is no inherent truth or life in these human-made concepts.

Nature does not make distinctions between male and female. Nature flows through everything – totally, equally, indiscriminately with a balanced perfection. Nature IS EVERYTHING. Where is the line between male and female? How can the Earth be only feminine? Just as how can God be only masculine? Holding on to these illusory distinctions (and discriminations) as if they are ultimately real is impeding the natural evolution of human consciousness.

The Blossoming of Human Consciousness

We are living in momentous times – times of unprecedented changes in Energy and Consciousness. The most significant of these changes is that we are transitioning from living in a dualistic world to being in Non-Duality. Non-Duality does not deny duality, but rather it includes it in a higher order, a unifying Truth.

For many, insisting on a definitive line between male and female is the last stronghold of the dualistic ego, which is always trying to affirm differences and separation. When we see a person, we do not see them as Life, as a perfected expression of Nature. We see our dualistic programming of feminine or masculine, dark or light, good or bad, educated or uneducated, bland or beautiful, us or them, along with all the emotional baggage attached to these labels. This dualistic way of living is dependent on a static idea of life rather than realizing that we are Life with its innate non-conceptual Intelligence. Until there is Realization of Non-Duality there will always be dueling dualisms!

Sexuality and Self-Definition

This is why both the women's movement and the gay-rights movement (including the whole "LGBTQ" movement) has been so disturbing for so many and so fundamental to the evolution of human consciousness. Now, there is growing awareness of people who are "intersex," that is, have attributes of both sexes. This is creating quite a lot of controversy, especially in the athletic arena. It is challenging our need to categorize people as male or female, or in any way whatsoever.

The significance of waking up to a reality beyond categories such as masculine and feminine, is that human consciousness is becoming more and more all-inclusive. There is a readiness to see through appearances to the Truth, which is Love. This is part of the Awakening. This does not mean, however, that we should maintain a fixed self-identity of ANY kind. "Straight," "gay," "bisexual," "intersex," "non-binary," – these all place one in a box, which can get in the way of realizing one's true indescribable, infinite Nature.

Freedom Is Beyond Definition

Not being able to say with definitive certainty what a male is supposed to be like and what a female is supposed to be like is very destabilizing for the status quo . . . and the status quo has been stuck in duality, with its fear and conflict ridden way of life for so long. Going beyond these separating ideas is essential for entering into Non-Duality, which is Divine Unconditional Love. In order for us to evolve to the next stage (and survive as a species), humanity must transition from basing reality on thoughts and beliefs, with its inherent comparisons, competition and conflict, to a Reality free of dualistic judgments.

Loving All Attributes

In an ironically Loving twist, it is only when we awaken to a Non-Dual Truth that we can fully accept and enjoy the unique extent of masculine and feminine qualities, along with ALL other qualities, that we each have been Lovingly given. It is only when we live beyond the veil of duality that we can see the Beauty and Perfection of everyone and everything just as it is, starting with ourselves!
